LRESULTS COFFICIALL SPORTS FOR ROBERT EDGREN

RANK FARRELL is a lucky and an unlucky man. His stable is making good. The Highlanders, his ball players, have dropped to the bottom like the column of mercury in a barometer on ice. It isn't Farreil's fault. He takes just ney-getters as in the rest of his Critics have said that the Highlanders need new blood. The old team was the greatest ever a short time ago, but most of the players are veterans, cagy and full of guile, skilled in the generalship of the diamond, but inclined to rheumatic stiffness, charile-horse, housemaid's knee, and baldness.

Last year, after the great spurt that nearly won the pennant, his whole team was out of commission. The quarters smelled like an iodoform factory.

With the Highlanders last we will have to fall back on the ancient text for consolation: "The last shall be first." There may be a chance still.

Remember how Ostrich came out of the cloud of dust at Gravacut for the count of the the cloud of dust at Gravesend Thurs-day—the cloud that hovered far be-hind the favorites—and finished right on Dolhi's heels?

HE Giants must have been feel-ing spiteful vesterday, from the way they "took it out" on poor

Matthews, the Harvard negro athlete, a professional because said to have remarked that he have to meet Matthews would like to see him disqualified. But isn't the amateur idea being overworked a bit in this case? Suppose that Jones remarks that he may rob a bank when he gets too old to work—is that enough reason for convicting him of burglary merrily nowadays. That attempts to run pool-rooms should be common is natural. Many people like to bet small amounts on the races—tillegal as such a proceeding is. When the gate fee was only $2 they went to the track hoping to win a small bet. But the three-dollar tickets have made a difference. Any one feels that $3 is a big commission to give for the privilegs of making a $5 bet. The poola difference. Any one feels that $3 is a big commission to give for the privilege of making a $5 bet. The pool-rooms charge no commission of the kind—therefore the pikers prefer the pool-rooms. It's natural enough.

period of fifteen days, said suspension to date from to-day and expire June 10. (Signed), HARRY PULLIAM, "President of the National League." Those who know McGraw personally and what he has done for the National League prophesied here this afternoon that he would either resign or make such statements against Dreyfuss that that he would either resign or make such statements against Droyfuss that would show him to have used questionable methods in controlling umpires of the National League.

McGraw is a man who played basebell on the town tots of Baltimore when other boys were eating dinner and support. Many and may a day he want with
